NEWLYN STREET METHODIST CHURCH

Newlyn St. Methodists To Open New Church

Newlyn Street Methodist Church will have the formal opening of its new building Sunday, March 7, when it opens its door to all former pastors and their families and all friends of the church. Rev. L. E. Mabry, pastor, will deliver the sermon, and two former pastors, Rev. C. W. Russell, Statesville, and Rev. A. L. Latham, now retired, will assist in the service. Although the congregation has been worshiping in the new sanctuary for the past four weeks, this is the first service in the new church to which visitors have been formally invited.

On Sunday night, following the formal opening in the morning, Rev. Herman Duncan, district superintendent of the Greensboro District, will begin a revival meeting in the new church. Services will be held each evening during the week at 7:30 and will be open to the public.

Following the revival, the church will enter a two-weeks' period of home visitation and then will observe Holy Week with services each night.

Sunday morning's event will be the culmination of a long period of planning and work. More than a year ago, after several years' planning, the members, under the direction of the pastor and the building committee set to work raising the necessary funds and making the actual plans.

The committee consisted of C. P. Jackson, Robert Morphis, V. M. Gamble, Cecil Smith and R. C. Maness.

The contract was given to W. F. Allred, charter member of the church.

The building is now complete except for a large memorial window which will be installed by Easter. Modern in every respect, the new church has a seating capacity of more than 300. Total cost, including furnishings, windows, organ, carpet, pews, etc., will be about $75,000.

Underneath the sanctuary is a lower auditorium for the assembly of the adult department of the church school. It is adequate for extra activities of all departments, since it is equipped with new folding chairs, piano and other equipment.

P. B. Winslow is lay leader of the church; Boyd Allred, chairman of the board; Colon Craven, church school superintendent and Miss Betty Craven, secretary of Christian Education.

Eller Memorial To Have Revival

Eller Memorial Baptist Church will start a revival meeting Sunday March 7, to continue through Wednesday, March 17. Services will be each night at 7:30. Rev. B. E. Morris, pastor of Grey Stone Baptist Church, Durham, will be the speaker. John T. Edwards is pastor.

J. Wakelon Morrison, music director, has announced a program of inspirational singing and special music.

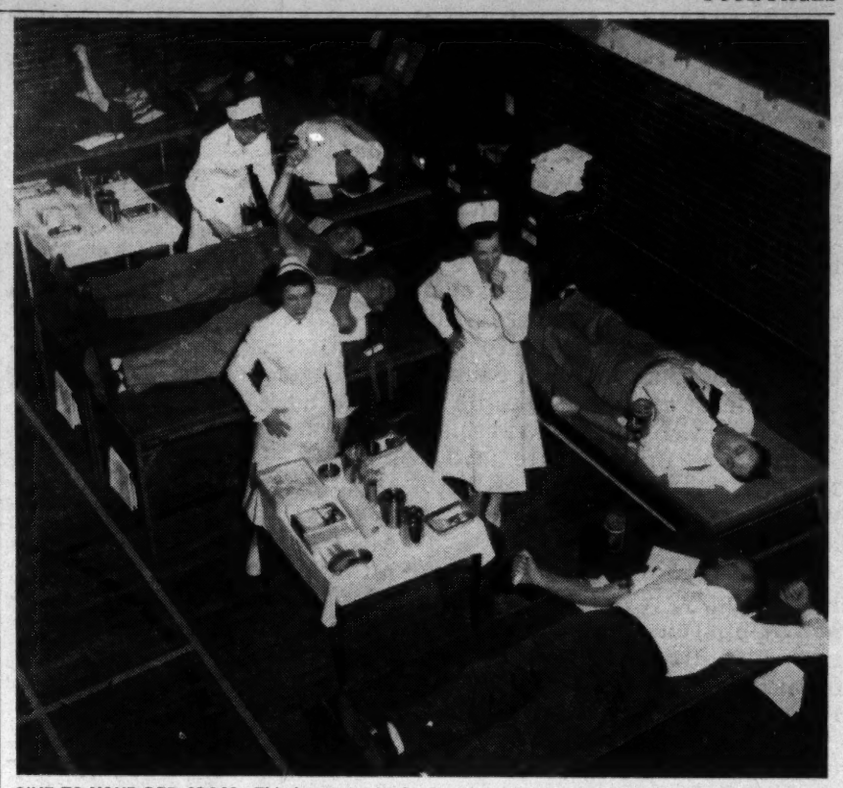
For further information, please call Dale Roberts or Mrs. Frances Funderburk.

A contribution of 5 cents by each of the 19,600,000 Junior Red Cross members constitutes the equivalent total value of gift boxes filled in the schools and shipped to children to other lands.

SUGGESTION AT PROXIMITY—Buck H. Butler, employed on the first shift in Beaming and Slashing at Proximity Plant recently received a cash award for a suggestion he made. His idea was to move the hooks that hold the metal clamps on the Hunt loom beams. This enables the hooks to fit flush against the beam, thus preventing the loose ends from getting under them and having to be cut out as the warp is run out. This suggestion made usable loom beams which were about to be discarded.



GIVE TO YOUR RED CROSS—This is a scene in the Proximity Branch of Cone Memorial YMCA gym last Fall when Cone Mills' employees were giving blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile. Donated blood is processed, typed, and stored and shipped to hospitals by the Red Cross. Four hundred and ten Cone Mills employees can truthly say, "I was there," when they read of the Red Cross saving a life. Everyone can say, "I was there" by contributing to the vast expense involved in the work of the Red Cross. Last year Cone employees gave $11,500; it is hoped that the drive will bring as much this year. Contributions may be made all next week. The Red Cross never charges for its services. It means people helping people.

Cone Mills Inc. announces the offering of Cone deeptone Denims for delivery during April, May and June at the price basis of 36 cents per yard for 8 oz. Sanforized.

This price when named last December 2 for first quarter delivery, was extremely low, and advances in cotton since then fully justify an increase at this time.

Customers are being given this opportunity to cover their second quarter requirements at this price in order to provide continuity and confidence so that the work clothing and allied trades may move ahead in their forward volume operations. This offering is made subject to mills acceptance and withdrawal without notice.

Southern Traffic League To Meet

A large and enthusiastic gathering, according to Thomas Smith, traffic manager, Cone Mills Corporation, is expected to converge on Augusta, Ga., at the Bon Air Hotel, March 16 for a membership meeting of the Southern Traffic League, Inc.

The League, since its origin during the Summer of 1918, has made every effort to promote adequate and proper transportation for southern industries at reasonable and equitable rates.

This membership meeting will provide effective means whereby southern industries and their traffic representatives may interchange information and ideas concerning traffic and transportation matters such as services, regulations, practices and charges. Individuals and traffic representatives of firms and corporations actually engaged in the shipment and receipt of commodities expect to spend a full day delving into current transportation matters.

The League is vitally interested in the question of surcharges on small shipments. Certain motor carriers, according to tariff provisions, have elected to "hold the line" in this respect. Other motor carriers have decided to increase drastically charges on shipments of 2,000 lbs. and under. Pending proceedings before regulatory bodies in respect to the above will be discussed fully by the league. Appropriate action has or will be taken to protect the interests of the League's membership.

The League has a number of working committees who will submit reports as to air transportation, bills of lading, carrier rate procedure, claims and claim prevention, classification, demurrage and storage, ex parte increases, Express and Parcel Post, highway transportation, inter - territorial rates, legislation, membership, merchandise freight, passenger traffic and many other subjects.

Revolution Club Holds Regular Meeting

Revolution Community Club met in regular session Wednesday morning at the Revolution Apartment club room. Mrs. Hannibal Moore, president was in the chair for the business session.

Mrs. Kermit Ritter gave the devotional and Mrs. J. L. Hinshaw, treasurer gave her report. The proceeds from last week's Brunswick Stew netted $99.37, which will be used for worthwhile projects.

The club group is now buying school lunch for one student and supplementing lunches with milk for two students, for the remainder of the school year.

At the conclusion of the session a salad plate was served.

Employees To Donate To Red Cross Next Week

Employees at Cone Mills may make their contributions to the American Red Cross from Monday, March 8, through Monday, March 15. Last year Cone employees donated approximately $11,500, and it is hoped that this year's drive will total as much if not more. Achievement of this goal will require a great deal of help from a great many people.

The money goes to disaster preparedness and relief, home service, the blood program, nursing services, safety services, service groups and the Junior Red Cross.

George Hamer is heading the general drive for the company with the following chairmen in various departments: Lennie Ritter, Revolution Flannel Plant; George Brandt, Print Works; Cleo Honeycutt, and Norman Pinkelton, White Oak; Raymond Kincaid, Proximity; Jack Hughes, Revolution Rayon Plant; Rawley Meadows, Guilford Products; Robert Gregory, Water Plant; Grady Haithcock, Power Plant; Lacy Wyrick; Laboratory; Miss Pauline Glenn, Printing and Sample Department of Cone Mills Inc.; Don Hawkins, electricians; Pat Lambeth, Maintenance; W. We find the Red Cross on duty everywhere . . . always true to the belief that people, and only people, matter."

Others in the picture are Mrs. Couch, Louis Lang, president of the New York Chapter; Mrs. Lang; A. J. Grant, Cleveland, Ohio, a vice president of the national organization; D. A. LAUNDROMAT?—Mrs. Gladys Thompson, laboratory technician, stands beside the launderometer, a technical washing machine in the Cone Mills Laboratory, used for testing color fastness of cottons and synthetics to insure highest quality dyes being used on Cone fabrics. Sometimes, samples are tested as many as 30 times to make certain that there will be no fading or bleeding of the dyes. This is just one of the many quality control measures followed by Cone Mills Laboratory. The white substance on top of the machine is only soap suds.

Should Recognize The Handiwork

The tragic event which took place in Congress last Monday shocked not only the population of the United States, but also, from information that has been publicized, the majority of the people in Puerto Rico.

Unfortunately, there exists in all countries certain people who are willing to sacrifice themselves in order to promote what they consider an inspired cause. We believe that in most cases such people are mentally unstable or are misguided tools of intrigue. Many people in public life have been targets for such characters, and as history records, we have had assassinations even of our presidents.

In the case of the unfortunate affair of last Monday, it is now becoming more and more apparent that the red glove of communism pulled the puppet strings. The cause of the so-called freedom of Puerto Rico was merely a guise; a part of an insidious plan.

It is a known fact that, at least in the past, the citizens of Puerto Rico have not wanted their freedom or independence from the United States; in fact, they have wanted to remain a part of the United States so that they might enjoy freedoms and privileges that this country affords.

It happens that Puerto Ricans have been free to come to this country at will. If Puerto Rico were to become an independent country, her citizens would become citizens of a foreign country and would be subject to restrictions imposed on other foreigners.

If that had been the case during the last twenty-five years, there would have been a much smaller Puerto Rican population in New York City today.

There is feeling among a lot of people in New York that certain left wing politicians have been responsible for the tremendous influx of Puerto Ricans to New York; in fact, it is believed that former Congressman Marcantonio had a lot to do with bringing Puerto Ricans into New York for political purposes. Fortunately, Marcantonio is no longer a member of Congress for he has been considered by many as a most dangerous radical and was kept in Congress to a great extent by control of the Puerto Rican vote.

We are positive that by and large, the average citizen residing in Puerto Rico is of a higher standard and thinks differently from many of the thousands that were brought into New York during the past twenty-five years.

We understand that the President has stated that if the Puerto Ricans want their independence he thinks it should be granted to them. We are certainly in accord with that viewpoint as it is consistent with American ideology.

In view of the tragic happening in Washington last Monday, we feel that this country should make a formal proposal to Puerto Rico stating that if they so desire, the citizens should vote as to whether or not they desire their independence, and if a majority vote for separation from the United States, independence should be accorded them.

We do not believe the United States would lose by their independence. On the other hand, it is our judgment that the people of Puerto Rico would lose much.

We feel, however, that in considering the unfortunate event of last Monday the entire world should recognize the handiwork of communism.

Mrs. Smith's sixth grade are glad to have Tommy Dixon back after a three weeks illness, part of which he spent at Cone Hospital.

The class is sorry to lose Brenda Williams who was transferred to Central School.

The boys and girls in Mrs. Gray's sixth grade observed Valentine day with a party. The program committee consisted of David Gwyn, Carolyn Moore, Peggy King and Jimmy Whitt. The program consisting of a Valentine Story was read by David Gwyn, Valentine poems by Carolyn Moore, and songs by Jimmy Whitt and Peggy King. Games led by Jerry Coffer, Pamala Jones, Larry Lovette and Julia Rouse were enjoyed by all. Several won prizes. A Valentine box was made by Nancy Martin and Carolyn Moore. Each pupil enjoyed passing out and reading valentines. Several of the class received at least 25 valentines. Refreshments consisted of ice cream, cup cakes, cookies, candy hearts, candy bars and punch. A surprise for the teacher was a large heart shaped box of valentine candy.

Glad to report that we have had one hundred percent attendance now for four days.

The school is very glad to have two new pupils. Betty Lou and Martha Sue Cook have transferred to our school from McIver School.

Mr. Pickerel, the photographer, will be here tomorrow to take pictures of the children.

BOWLING NEWS

By Maxine Allen

Thursday night, February 25, the Ladies "A" League was organized, with matches bowled at Proximity and White Oak alleys. The Lucky Five and Pow Wow teams walked off with honors, winning three games and losing none.

The Tigerettes, the only High School team entered, did not fare so well, losing three, as did the Go Getters. High Team Game 390, and High Team Set 1108, were bowled by the Lucky Five Team.

Louise Pinkelton, a Lucky Fiver, copped all individual honors for the night, with a 97 high game, 266 high set and 88.2 high average. Jean Austin bowled high set for the Tigerattes, Merlene Floyd for the Pow Wows and Gwyn Jones for the Go Getters

The seasons schedule is listed at the bottom of this article.

In Friday Nights Cone Women's Bowling League a new high game record was established by Dot Smith, who bowled a 107, to replace Bea McQueen's 105. Esther Coble managed to tie Sharon Kincaid's high set record by knocking down a grand total of 265 pins.

The Hot Shots won two games, which gives them a substantial lead of seven wins, two losses to date, with the Alley Cats only one game behind with six wins to three games on the losing side.

The Wood Choppers are deciding to take steps to remedy their two wins and seven losses.

Helen Noah, of the Pin Poppers believe it or not, bowled games of 73, 73, and (you've guessed it) 73, which is worthy of Ripley's column we think.

Incidentally, don't miss next week's Textorian. Glamour shots of the bowlers were taken by Wayne Cates, but will not be ready for publication until then.

Schedule for the Thursday night Ladies "A" Bowling League's Second Round is:

March 11 — Lucky Five vs. Go Getters at Proximity Y; Tigerettes vs. Pow Wows at White Oak Y.

March 18 — Pow Wows vs. Go Getters at Proximity Y; Lucky Five vs. Tigerettes at White Oak Y.

March 25 — Tigerettes vs. Go Getters at White Oak Y; Lucky Five vs. Pow Wows at Proximity Y.

April 1 — Tigerettes vs. Pow Wows at Proximity Y; Lucky Five vs. Go Getters at White Oak Y.

Proximity Goats retained their title as "The League Leaders" in the Cone YMCA Office Bowling League last Monday night, by defeating the hard fighting and determined Revolution Office two games to one.

As usual, Ray Smith led his teammates by bowling 122 his first game and 104 his second. Also to be mentioned is Monroe "Little Napoleon" Whitt who bowled 105 to help pull his team through to victory.

Revolution, led by T. Ward, 106, Tommy Ward, 122, and Will "Hard Luck" Marshburn, 105, never gave up until the last ball had been thrown, losing their last game by only 14 pins.

At the White Oak Y last Tuesday night, the Rayon Office defeated the Laboratory 2 games to 1 and remained in second place. The Laboratory gave the Rayon all that they could handle, but they still came out on the short end of two games.

Roger Johnson was the only one on the Rayon team that could break 100, and that's very unusual! Maybe Jack Hughes is saving his boys for the big contest next week against the first place Goats! Let's wait and see.

Bob Weaver, and "Fit" Seabolt were high bowlers for the Laboratory. Bob having a total of 314 pins and Fit's having a total of 300.

The Payroll Office, led by James Weaver, 93, Howard Pickard, 93, and Bill Taylor, 91, defeated the Proximity Comets two games to one at the Proximity Y. Gene Neiers, 93, Jim Ward, 93, Gordon Williams, 92, and George "Third Shot" Nance, 95, were among the top bowlers for the Comets.

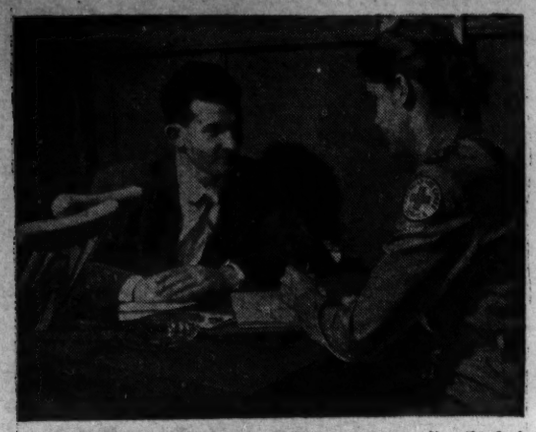
Assist for Veterans



Some veterans need assistance for many years after the last battle is fought. Here a veteran gets help from a Red Cross Home Service worker in applying for an increase in his disability pension. The Red Cross spent $35,147,100 on services to the armed forces and veterans last year.

Typical False Tale Of Red Cross Blood Told

A vocal young veteran in a small midwestern town had some pretty harsh words to say about the Red Cross blood program.

According to his story—and he told it often and loudly—he had been wounded during a fight in Korea and hospitalized in Yokohama. He received 14 pints of Red Cross blood, he said, and was charged $25.00 a pint for it. The money was deducted regularly from his pay, he added, to make sure that it was collected.

Naturally, a story like that played hob with Red Cross blood collections in the town and quickly came to the ears of the chapter's blood chairman. A personal visit to the veteran brought confirmation of the story with such added details as his serial number and overseas unit. Armed with this information, the blood chairman wrote in to Red Cross headquarters for a check.

The investigation—a painstaking one that required almost three months— revealed that, literally, not one word of the veteran's story was true. He had not paid for blood, of course; he had never been wounded; and he had never been in Korea. His service record showed a long list of disciplinary fines and a court-martial for absence without leave. And as cream for the dressing, it revealed that he left the service still owing $15.00 on a $30.00 Red Cross loan for emergency transportation home when his father was ill.

Faced with these facts, the veteran had no choice but to admit that he had fabricated the whole yarn just—as he put it—"to impress the guys down at work."

Campaign Brings Out Rumors

As Red Cross campaign time rolls around, probably you will begin to hear stories like this here in Greensboro. Not all of them will be as easy to disprove as the veteran's blood story. Some of them will involve half-truths or distortions of the truth. But all of them will have one thing in common—they will present the Red Cross in an unfavorable light.

For the record, here are most common of these false rumors which have a strange way of popping up more frequently during a Red Cross campaign.

The Red Cross never charges for the services of supplies it gives to servicemen or disaster victims. Hundreds of reports of such charges have been checked and in not one case was the story verified. The only exception to the no-charge rule occurred during World War II when the military insisted that the Red Cross make a minimum charge for food and lodging at certain of its overseas clubs.

Blood collected by the Red Cross never is sold by the organization to anyone, anywhere.

The Red Cross cannot grant or withhold leave for servicemen—leaves are controlled entirely by military authorities. The Red Cross enters the picture only to provide verified information about home conditions in cases of emergency.

The salaries of paid Red Cross workers are set by the volunteers who run the organization and are in line with those paid by other welfare agencies. They are lower than the salaries paid for similar work in private industry. E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the Red Cross, is a full-time volunteer who receives no salary.

Expenditures No Secret

The Red Cross makes no secret of what it does with the funds it receives. The Department of the Army makes an annual audit of national Red Cross expenditures for submission to Congress. In addition, its accounts are audited a second time by Haskins and Sells, a private firm of public accountants. The national organization and individual chapters also publish annual financial statements to show how Red Cross money is spent.

If you hear a story about the Red Cross that contradicts one of these facts you can be sure that it is false no matter how energetically its teller insist that it's true. Tell him so, and if he's sincere, ask him to call the Greensboro chapter for an investigation of his complaint. Or better still, ask him to give you the facts necesary for this check — names, dates, places and exact accounting of what happened. On such a "put up or shut up" basis, few of the organization's detractors can do anything but sputter lamely "well, it didn't happen to me personally, but..."

The Red Cross is eager to halt the spread of misinformation and false rumors about its services—and at the same time it is ready to act on every legitimate complaint. No one claims that the Red Cross is perfect or that its workers never make mistakes. Occasionally they do. In any case all that the organization asks is that rumors or complaints be brought to the attention of responsible Red Cross officials.

Health Officer Cites Rabies Control Need

Dr. E. H. Ellinwood, County Health officer, said today that we have a real need for carrying on a well planned rabies control program in Guilford County.

Most of the counties in North Carolina have had rabies in their animals during the past year. These rabid animals are no respecters of county lines. As long as there is one rabid dog in the state, there will be constant danger to other areas.

In order for Guilford County to be free of rabies we must work in cooperation with other counties to eliminate rabies.

"A four point program is being launched by counties throughout North Carolina," said Dr. Ellinwood. This program includes: (1) Vaccination of all dogs; (2) Elimination of stray dogs by cooperation of law enforcement officers and dog wardens; (3) Information to the public about rabies control; (4) Evaluation of statistics for future action.

A great deal can be accomplished through counties cooperating. By reducing the number of cases of rabies in animals, we can eventually eliminate the disease. At the same time, fewer will have to take the long and painful antirabic treatment given following dog bites.

The economic loss from rabid animals biting cattle and hogs can be reduced. This has been a real problem in some areas of the state.

Through public education regarding the disease, we can reduce many of the fears and superstitions that have existed for so long.

JOIN and SERVE

Traditionally in March millions of citizens in every part of the country open their hearts and their purses to support the humanitarian services of the American Red Cross. This organization is a great fellowship of good will in which citizens are welcome. When we join the Red Cross we identify ourselves with each individual act of mercy this great organization performs anywhere in the world, as surely as if we personally extended a helping hand.

When we join the Red Cross, we are there—

When the shattered lives and homes of disaster victims are rebuilt; When blood saves a life; When emergency help is given to servicemen, veterans, or their families; When a drowning child is rescued and revived; When the warm sympathy of a chapter volunteer brightens a hospital patient's lonely hours; When a forlorn youngster overseas joyfully hugs a Junior Red Cross gift box to his chest; Our time, enegery, and money make Red Cross service possible. Let us answer the call this March. Let's carry out the slogan Join and Serve.

Wildlife Conservation Stamps Published

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The 17th annual Wildlife Conservation Stamps published by the National Wildlife Federation are now being distributed from Federation headquarters in Washington.

The 36 stamps in the 1954 edition include full-color illustrations of 14 species of North American birds, five fishes, seven wild flowers and two trees, the red admiral butterfly, a timber rattlesnake and the Anderson tree frog.

They were painted by four noted nature artists. Roger Tory Peterson, the Federation's art director and best known for his illustrated "Field Guide to the Birds," contributed nine of the birds, ranging from the lordly Canada goose and the popular bobwhite to the colorful scarlet tanager. He also painted the butterfly and some of the wild flowers.

The five mammals — black bear, walrus, gray fox, wood rat and coati —were painted by Frances Lee Jaques, for many years staff artist of the American Museum of Natural History. Jaques also contributed the fishes, five of the birds and the trees.

Some of the wild flowers were done by Leslie Ragan, one of America's foremost travel-poster artists. Michael Bevans, Youthful New Jersey illustrator and a newcomer among the Wildlife Stamp artists, contributed the rattlesnake and tree frog.

Over 600 species of American wildlife have been portrayed in the National Wildlife Federation stamps since the series started in 1938. Reproduced by six-color lithography, the stamps are distributed by mail to individuals throughout the country. They are the means by which the non-profit Federation finances not only its own activities, but lends assistance for conservation projects sponsored by affiliated state organizations.

During 1953 stamp receipts helped support more than a score of conservation workshops for school teachers and several youth camps, and provided graduate fellowships in six colleges and universities. The Federation also prepares and distributes conservation teaching aids and reference materials without charge to schools throughout the nation.

GOOD RECORD—Pictured above are Shirley and Frances Reed, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reed, Haw River. Shirley and Frances are beginning their third year of perfect attendance in the Haw River Methodist Sunday School. They attend the Haw River Public School and for the past two years they have had perfect attendance at school. Their father has been an employee of the Cutting Department at Cone Finishing Co., Granite Plant, for the past 20 years.

One among every 12 persons, between the ages of 20 and 60, has contributed blood through Red Cross for civilian and defense needs since the inauguration of the Red Cross blood program in January 1948.

Health For All

Hiccup

"...hold your breath, and if this fails, then gargle with a little water, and if the hiccup continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze..."

More than 2,000 years ago, the philosopher Plato described this "sure cure" for hiccup. It is still being used, and so are a host of others ranging from sudden fright to sticking the head in a paper bag. Everyone has his favorite remedy and almost any of them can claim to be successful, because usually hiccup yields to simple remedies or none at all.

Hiccup is a sudden involuntary drawing-in of breath due to a spasm of the diaphragm. The "hics" come several times a minute and may be as rapid as two a second. They are the result of some irritation of the nerve pathways and may be caused by a disease or toxic condition, over eating or drinking, or merely a fit of laughter. There have even been epidemics of hiccup which have been variously explained as mass hysteria or the result of virus infection.

When a patient suffering from diease develops hiccup, the condition can present serious problems. However, most of us are concerned only with that sudden embarrassing attack of "hics" for which we get anything but sympathy from our neighbors. If the attack doesn't end quickly under Plato's treatment, you might try light pressure on the eyeballs or the lower part of the throat, or hold a paper bag over your mouth and breath in and out a few times.

If none of these remedies work, your doctor has a number of measures, one of which will probably turn the trick. Anti - spasmodic drugs and carbon dixide inhalation are sometimes prescribed. In refractory cases, especially when the spasms are preventing other necessary treatment of a sick person, phrenic nerve block or crush may be necessary.

Fortunately most cases of hiccup stop of themselves in a short time, no matter what remedy is tried.

One among every 29 persons, between the ages of 20 and 60, contributed blood to the Red Cross during the year for civilian and defense use.

The Red Cross has provided for overseas shipment an average of 3 pints of whole blood for every U.S. serviceman wounded, killed, and missing in action throughout the Korean crisis.

In an average of six disaster operations per week, following storms, floods or fires, Red Cross provided emergency and rehabilitation aid to persons suffering injuries or losses.
